36 full size archive boxes, 3 half size archives boxes, 2 flat boxes, 7 additional boxes

Summary

The Stoughton-Turner Family Papers consists of manuscripts, printed materials and photographs. The Family Papers consists of a number of collections and compilations of data of many persons over a span of over a half century, and were brought together by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boynton Turner in Madison. The focus of the papers is on the Stoughton and Turner families, but there are many collateral lines of other families represented, including the Boynton, Ellsworth, Fitch, Hooker, McLaughlin, Page, Rouse, Wadsworth and Williams families throughout the United States. In addition to the genealogical materials, there are many items relating to the history of Wisconsin and especially of the Stoughton area.

Description

The Stoughton-Turner Family Papers consists of a number of collections and compilations of data by numerous persons during a span of over a half century. It was brought together by Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Turner in Madison. The focus of the papers is on the Stoughton and Turner families, but there are many collateral lines of other families represented, including the Boynton, Ellsworth, Fitch, Hooker, McLaughlin, Page, Rouse, Wadsworth and Williams families throughout the United States. In addition to the genealogical materials, there are many items relating to the history of Wisconsin and especially of the Stoughton, Wisconsin area.

The Turners published three books from the collection: The English Ancestry of Thomas Stoughton of Windsor, Connecticut; Stoughton Footprints in the Sands of Time and Wisconsin Page Pioneer Kinsfolk. All branches of the Stoughton family in America are descended from the Thomas Stoughton who is the subject of their first book.

The cornerstone of the collection is the data on the Stoughton family brought together by Mr. Bradley Stoughton, a metallurgical engineer, while living in New York City. Beginning in 1909 he cast a nation-wide net to learn the names and places of residence of the Stoughton and related families. This correspondence brought in much original material on the Stoughton and other families which Bradley Stoughton used in compiling a series of Stoughton family genealogies. There are also supporting Stoughton materials collected, among others, by the Rev. Lewis H. Stoughton, Saco, Maine; Frederick A. Stoughton of Washington, Connecticut; and Paul B. and Ethel M. Turner of Madison, Wisconsin.

The Stoughton-Turner connection was brought about by the marriage of Sarah Ellen Stoughton (1841-1914), daughter of Luke Stoughton and Eliza Page Stoughton, to Orren McClure Turner (1839-1918), in Stoughton, Wisconsin, May 16, 1866.

The papers are arranged substantially in the form in which they were organized by Mr. and Mrs. Turner, following the system used by Bradley Stoughton from 1909 on through his active collecting period. Stoughton numbered his correspondence and manuscripts serially by the name of the person from whom they were garnered. The Turners adopted this numbering system for their own papers and for the collections they gathered during their research.

In the inventory below these numbered folders are designated as "Units." Also shown are the folder and box numbers in which the units are housed.

The collection is organized in five series:

- A. Archives and Manuscripts. (Units 1-311)
- B. Newspaper Clippings. (Units 312-317)
- C. Books, Pamphlets, Broad­sides, Folders, and Other Paper Ephemera. (Units 318-365)
- D. Photographs. (Units 366-448)
- E. Oversize Maps, Diplomas, Posters, Charts, etc. (Units 449-491)

Duplicate photographs and artifacts for now are housed in two additional boxes at the end.
